MAN Truck & Bus already has many years of experience with batteries and battery packs through its many of the Group's own electrically powered commercial vehicles: the all-electric eTGE van was already marketed as a series vehicle in 2018, the medium-duty series of the battery-electric truck eTGM has been in customer use for urban delivery ...

Battery-electric vehicles or BEV - albeit ones that are somewhat limited in scope, power and range - are nothing new in themselves. But the kinds of batteries required to move large, heavy vehicles like trucks and for long distances with heavy loads, or to power construction equipment in shaping buildings and infrastructure and moving vast amounts of material, are ...

We use lithium-ion batteries. Depending on the model, trucks can be offered with anything from 2 to 6 battery packs. Each battery pack has a total energy of 90 kWh. Each battery weighs 505 kg. In 2022 we opened our first battery assembly plant in Ghent in Belgium. The plant will supply batteries for our electric heavy-duty trucks.

Manz AG expands the Group's lithium-ion battery production with four highly automated assembly lines - Production capacity increases to 3.2GWh per year

The energy storage systems used by MAN are lithium-ion modules with nickel, manganese and cobalt. Each battery pack consists of battery cells that are grouped into modules and combined in individual layers. "We have three variants for trucks, buses and later for specific applications, depending on customer needs," Bernath explains.

Finally, around six of these modules become a standard battery pack. As many as 4500 cells can be used in a single battery pack, monitored and regulated by an on-board control system. Each battery pack has an energy content of around 90kWh and so six in parallel, like you might find in a Volvo truck, has a total energy content of 540kWh.
